in proposing to Visioni LatinoAmericane (VL) the essay .....

declares that the essay is unpublished and his exclusive work, in compliance with the rules on intellectual property, that the positions expressed are exclusively binding on the author and that it has not already been published or is being published elsewhere. Declares that the contribution has not received a negative evaluation from another magazine and that it is not plagiarized or self-plagiarized, that he has read and accepted the Ethical code and that he has complied with the indications given in the Project and policies and in the Editorial guidelines of the journal Visioni LatinoAmericane. He claims that the essay is scientifically original and that it presents new findings, data, ideas and/or interpretations that have not been previously published or submitted concurrently to others. If accepted, he undertakes to publish his essay in the VL journal under the open access creative commons license. Acceptance of contributions by the journal implies the non-exclusive transfer of the economic rights of the author in favor of the journal, which allows its re-use, subject to an electronic edition. The transfer of non-exclusive rights also implies the author's authorization to host the work in the institutional repository of Openstars, Eut Edizioni Università di Trieste, and to outspread it through the databases that the Journal and the Publisher deem appropriate for indexing, in order to increase the visibility of the journal itself and its authors. He is aware that this license allows anyone to download, reuse, reprint, modify, distribute and/or copy the texts. He knows and accepts the evaluation and review process proposed by the journal (double-blind international peer review). Furthermore, with this authorization, the author gives his consent to the processing of personal data (pursuant to article 13 of legislative decree no. 196/2003) which will be used by the Journal Visioni LatinoAmericane and by the Publisher Eut Edizioni Università di Trieste (Italy) exclusively in relation to the aforementioned process and in compliance with the legislation on the protection of personal data. In the event that the article is subsequently republished in other journals or volumes, the author undertakes to inform in advance and to expressly mention Visioni LatinoAmericane as the first publication site.
